"THE BRIGHT FUTURE OF OUR CHILDREN STARTS WITH OUR DECISIONS AS FROM TODAY."

-BRUNO H. GEIGER-

Mingalabar,

We are communicating to you in a very serious situation the whole world is in. COVID 19 is causing tremendous fears and uncertainty about the future. For CVT Myanmar, the classes have been over since the beginning of March and the apprentices are on holiday anyway. We would like to underline that we strictly follow the official measures taken by our government. For our health and safety, we provide extra facilities like hand-wash basins, hand-sanitizers and fever testers but also raise COVID 19 awareness to the public by hanging posters on inside and outside walls of the school. We also avoid meeting in crowds and visiting training companies in this situation. On the other hand, we should organize ourselves in an appropriate way within the remaining space in order to pursue our obligations to maintain the functioning of our institution. Our annual duties during these holidays include: curriculum updates, lesson plan preparation, minor maintenance of our school facilities, handling inventory and assets control, preparing annual plan and budgeting. Therefore, in the current situation, we have established a scheme where we work partially either from home (or) at the office regularly in defined small numbers to solve issues where the collaboration of colleagues is required. We hope for the best and to be prepared for the worst. I would like to end my notes by reminding of a statement of our State Counsellor; Daw Aung San Suu Kyi on Tuesday, urging us not to panic over the first cases on COVID 19.

APPRENTICE / TRAINING COMPANY VOICES

I am one of the CVT alumni from the Hotel & Gastronomy Profession. That's why I know the advantages of CVT Myanmar's training program really well. What I have learned in Hotel & Gastronomy at CVT is useful in my workplace. That's why I allowed our hotel staff to attend the Hotel & Gastronomy training at CVT as apprentices. Our staff can share what they have learned and the experiences they have made at CVT with their colleagues in the workplace. And they can work in a collaborative and professional manner. They can manage customer services and duties effectively. It can have a positive impact on a person's motivation, attitude, self-confidence, especially among the other employees. The staff focuses on developing specific skills in their career field. After the CVT training program, our staff can handle complaints effectively and perform their duties in a professional way. I really appreciate CVT Myanmar for providing these benefits to our hotel and our staff.
